

Teams Moiseeva and Epping Score Everest Curling Challenge Spots

Curling Fans around the world vote for Final Eight of 32 World Class Curlers Competing for $200,000 Prize

Everest Curling Challenge to air on TSN and stream live on ESPN3 August 25 - 27

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE.

TORONTO, June 23, 2017 – Following three weeks of intense voting by curling fans from Canada, the US, across Europe and even Brazil, Everest Funeral Concierge, title sponsor of the Everest Curling Challenge, today announced Teams Moiseeva and Epping will be participating in the first-ever Everest Curling Challenge.

Taking place in Fredericton, NB from August 25 – 27, 2017, the Everest Curling Challenge will feature the world’s top curlers facing off in a unique, mixed format competition for the chance to win $200,000, the largest single prize in the sport. It will air on TSN and stream live on ESPN3.

“We’re thrilled with the passion and enthusiasm curling fans from around the world showed in voting for the teams they want to see play at the Everest Curling Challenge. There were days when the votes were very tight. I know the curlers themselves were paying close attention to the tallies,” says Mark Duffey, CEO and President at Everest Funeral Concierge. “Combine this enthusiasm with the speed with which the event sold out and there is a lot to look forward to this August. Fans are going to want to catch all the action on TSN and ESPN3.”

Over 167,000 votes were cast through the duration of the contest which began June 1. Voting closed at 11:59 PM EDT on Thursday, June 22. Votes were then verified through a rigorous analysis and Teams Moiseeva and Epping received the most (62,682 and 24,562, respectively). A significant number of votes came from outside of Canada, and curling enthusiasts could vote daily for their favourite team by going to www.EverestCurlingChallenge.com.
